Article 3.9: Accounting Segregation of Fungible Materials or Products

1. If originating and non-originating fungible:

- (b) products are physically combined or mixed in inventory in a Party before exportation to the other Party, the determination of the origin of the fungible products need not be made through physical separation and identification of any specific fungible product, but may be determined on the basis of an inventory management system.

2. The inventory management system must:

- (a) ensure that, at any time, no more products receive originating status than would have been the case if the fungible materials or fungible products had been physically segregated;
- (b) specify the quantity of originating and non-originating materials or products, including the dates on which those materials or products were placed in inventory and if required by the applicable rule of origin, the value of those materials or products;

Article 3.10: Accessories, Spare Parts and Tools

- (b) disregarded in determining whether all the non-originating materials used in the production of the product undergo the applicable change in tariff classification or other requirements set out in Annex 3-A.

Article 3.11: Sets

1. Except as provided in Annex 3-A, a set classified as such as a result of the application of Rule 3 of the General Rules for the Interpretation of the Harmonized System, is originating, provided that:

3. The transaction value or ex-works price of the set is calculated in the same manner as the transaction value or ex-works price of the product.

- (b) has not undergone any operation beyond that necessary to preserve it in good condition.

Section C – Origin Procedures

Article 3.16: Obligations Regarding Exportations

1. Each Party shall provide that an origin declaration as referred to in Article 3.15(1) must be completed by an exporter in the territory of a Party of an originating product for the purposes of obtaining preferential tariff treatment for that product in the territory of the other Party.

2. Each Party shall require that the exporter completing an origin declaration shall, at the request of the customs authority of the Party of export, submit a copy of the origin declaration and all documents proving the originating status of the products concerned, including supporting documents or written statements from the producers or suppliers, as well as the fulfilment of the other requirements of this Chapter.

3. Each Party shall require that an origin declaration be completed and signed by the exporter unless otherwise provided by the Parties.

4. An origin declaration may be completed by the exporter when the product to which it relates is exported, or after exportation on the condition that it is presented in the importing Party within a period of two years, or within a longer period as specified in the legislation of the importing Party, after the importation of the product to which it relates.

5. The customs authority of the Party of import may, in accordance with its legislation, allow an origin declaration to apply to multiple shipments of identical originating products that take place within a period not exceeding 12 months as set out by the exporter in that declaration.

6. An exporter that has completed an origin declaration and that becomes aware or has reason to believe that the origin declaration contains incorrect information, shall immediately notify the importer in writing of any change affecting the originating status of each product to which the origin declaration applies.

7. The Parties may allow the establishment of a system that would permit an origin declaration to be submitted electronically and directly from the exporter in the territory of one Party to an importer in the territory of the other Party, including the replacement of the exporter's signature on the origin declaration with an electronic signature or identification code.

Article 3.17: Validity of the Origin Declaration

1. An origin declaration shall be valid for 12 months from the date when it was completed by the exporter, or for such longer period as determined by the Party of import. The preferential tariff treatment may be claimed, within the validity period, to the customs authority of the Party of import.

2. Each Party shall require that an importer that becomes aware or has reason to believe that an origin declaration for a product to which preferential tariff treatment has been granted contains incorrect information immediately notifies the customs authority of the Party of import in writing of any change affecting the originating status of that product and pays any duties owing.

3. If an importer claims preferential tariff treatment for a product imported from the territory of the other Party, the importing Party may deny preferential tariff treatment to the product if the importer fails to comply with any requirement under this Chapter.

4. A Party shall, in accordance with its legislation, provide that if a product would have qualified as an originating product when it was imported into the territory of that Party except that the importer did not have an origin declaration at the time of importation the importer of the product may, within a period of no less than three years after the date of importation, apply for a refund of duties paid as a result of the product not having been accorded preferential tariff treatment.

Article 3.19: Proof Related to Transport Through a Non-Party

1. Each Party, through its customs authority, may require an importer to demonstrate that a product for which the importer claims preferential tariff treatment was shipped in accordance with Article 3.13, by providing:

- (a) carrier documents, including bills of lading or waybills, indicating the shipping route and all points of shipment and transshipment prior to the importation of the product; and
- (b) if the product was shipped through or transhipped outside the territories of the Parties, a copy of the customs control documents indicating to that customs authority that the product remained under customs control while outside the territories of the Parties.

Article 3.20: Importation by Instalments

Article 3.21: Exemptions from Origin Declarations

1. A Party may, in conformity with its legislation, waive the requirement to present an origin declaration as referred to in Article 3.18 for low value shipments of originating products from the other Party and for originating products forming part of the personal luggage of a traveller coming from the other Party.

2. A Party may exclude any importation from the provisions of paragraph 1 when the importation is part of a series of importations that may reasonably be considered to have been undertaken or arranged for the purpose of avoiding the requirements of this Chapter related to origin declarations.

3. The Parties may set value limits for products referred to in paragraph 1, and shall exchange information regarding those limits.

Article 3.22: Supporting Documents

The documents referred to in Article 3.16(2) may include documents relating to the following:

2. Each Party shall provide that if an exporter has based an origin declaration on a written statement from the producer, the producer must be required to maintain records in accordance with paragraph 1.

3. When provided for in the legislation of the Party of import, an importer that has been granted preferential tariff treatment shall keep documentation relating to the importation of the product, including a copy of the origin declaration, for three years after the date on which preferential treatment was granted, or for a longer period of time as that Party may specify.

4. Each Party shall permit, in accordance with that Party's legislation, importers, exporters, and producers in its territory to maintain documentation or records in any medium, provided that the documentation or records can be retrieved and printed.

5. A Party may deny preferential tariff treatment to a product that is the subject of an origin verification when the importer, exporter, or producer of the product that is required to maintain records or documentation under this Article:

- (a) fails to maintain records or documentation relevant to determining the origin of the product in accordance with the requirements of this Chapter; or
- (b) denies access to those records or documentation.

Article 3.24: Discrepancies and Formal Errors

1. The discovery of slight discrepancies between the statements made in the origin declaration and those made in the documents submitted to the customs authorities for the purpose of carrying out the formalities for importing a product does not, because of that fact, render the origin declaration null and void if it is established that this document corresponds to the product submitted.

2. Obvious formal errors, such as typing errors, on an origin declaration shall not cause this document to be rejected if these errors do not create doubts concerning the correctness of the statements made in the document.

Article 3.25: Cooperation

1. The Parties shall cooperate in the uniform administration and interpretation of this Chapter and, through their customs authorities, assist each other in verifying the originating status of a product on which an origin declaration is based.

3. It is understood that the customs authority of the Party of export assumes all expenses in carrying out paragraph 1.

4. It is further understood that the customs authorities of the Parties will discuss the overall operation and administration of the verification process, including forecasting of workload and discussing priorities. If there is an unusual increase in the number of requests, the customs authorities of the Parties shall consult to establish priorities and consider steps to manage the workload, taking into consideration operational requirements.

5. With respect to products considered originating in accordance with Article 3.3, the Parties may cooperate with a non-Party to develop customs procedures based on the principles of this Chapter.

Article 3.26: Origin Verification

1. For the purpose of ensuring the proper application of this Chapter, the Parties shall assist each other, through their customs authorities, in verifying whether a product is originating and ensuring the accuracy of a claim for preferential tariff treatment.

2. The Parties shall ensure that a request for an origin verification concerning whether a product is originating or whether all other requirements of this Chapter are fulfilled is:

- (a) based on risk assessment methods applied by the customs authority of the Party of import, which may include random selection; or
- (b) made when the Party of import has reasonable doubts.

3. The customs authority of the Party of import may verify whether a product is originating by requesting, in writing, that the customs authority of the Party of export conduct a verification concerning whether a product is originating. When requesting a verification, the customs authority of the Party of import shall provide the customs authority of the Party of export with:

- (a) the identity of the customs authority issuing the request;

6. The origin verification shall be carried out by the customs authority of the Party of export. For this purpose, the customs authority may, in accordance with its legislation, request documentation, call for any evidence, or visit the premises of an exporter or a producer to review the records referred to in Article 3.22 and observe the facilities used in the production of the product.

7. If an exporter has based an origin declaration on a written statement from the producer or supplier, the exporter may arrange for the producer or supplier to provide documentation or information directly to the customs authority of the Party of export upon that Party's request.

8. As soon as possible and in any event within 12 months after receiving the request referred to in paragraph 3, the customs authority of the Party of export shall complete a verification of whether the product is originating, and fulfils the other requirements of this Chapter, and shall:

- (a) provide to the customs authority of the Party of import, by certified or registered mail or any other method that produces a confirmation of receipt by that customs authority, a written report in order for it to determine whether the product is originating or not that contains:
 - (i) the result of the verification,
 - (ii) the description of the product subject to verification and the tariff classification relevant to the application of the rule of origin,
 - (iii) a description and explanation of the production sufficient to support the rationale concerning the originating status of the product,
 - (iv) information on the manner in which the verification was conducted, and
 - (v) if appropriate, supporting documentation; and
- (b) subject to its legislation, notify the exporter of its decision concerning whether the product is originating.

11. Where a written report has not been provided in accordance with sub-paragraph 8(a), or where the customs authority of the Party of import is unable to arrive at a conclusion as to whether a product is originating, that customs authority may deny preferential tariff treatment to the product.

12. If there are differences in relation to the verification procedure of this Article or in the interpretation of the rules of origin in determining whether a product qualifies as originating, and these differences cannot be resolved through consultations between the customs authority requesting the verification and the customs authority responsible for performing the verification, the Parties are encouraged to resolve those differences within the Subcommittee on Origin Procedures.

13. This Chapter does not prevent a customs authority of a Party from issuing a determination of origin or an advance ruling relating to any matter under consideration by the Subcommittee on Origin Procedures, or the Committee on Trade in Goods and Rules of Origin or from taking any other action that it considers necessary, pending a resolution of the matter under this Agreement.

Article 3.27: Review and Appeal

1. Each Party shall grant substantially the same rights of review and appeal of determinations of origin and advance rulings issued by its customs authority as it provides to importers in its territory, to any person who:

- (a) has received a decision on origin in the application of this Chapter; or

- (b) has received an advance ruling pursuant to Article 3.30(1).

2. Further to Articles 15.4 (Administrative Proceedings) and 15.5 (Review and Appeal), each Party shall provide that the rights of review and appeal referred to in paragraph 1 include access to at least two levels of appeal or review including at least one judicial or quasi-judicial level.

Article 3.28: Penalties

Article 3.29: Confidentiality

1. This Chapter does not require a Party to furnish or allow access to business information or to information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person, the disclosure of which would impede law enforcement or would be contrary to that Party's law protecting business information and personal data and privacy.

2. Each Party shall maintain, in conformity with its law, the confidentiality of the information collected pursuant to this Chapter and shall protect that information from disclosure that could prejudice the competitive position of the person providing the information. If the Party receiving or obtaining the information is required by its legislation to disclose the information, that Party shall notify the person or Party who provided that information.

3. Each Party shall ensure that the confidential information collected pursuant to this Chapter is not used for purposes other than the administration and enforcement of determination of origin and of customs matters, except with the permission of the person or Party who provided the confidential information.

4. Notwithstanding paragraph 3, a Party may allow information collected pursuant to this Chapter to be used in any administrative, judicial or quasi-judicial proceeding instituted for failure to comply with customs related legislation implementing this Chapter. A Party shall notify the person or Party who provided the information in advance of this use.

5. The Parties shall exchange information on their respective law concerning data protection for the purpose of facilitating the operation and application of paragraph 2.

Article 3.30: Advance Rulings Relating to Origin

1. Each Party shall, through its customs authority, provide for the expeditious issuance of written advance rulings, prior to the importation of a product into its territory, on the request of an importer in its territory or an exporter or a producer in the territory of the other Party, concerning whether a product qualifies as an originating product under this Chapter.

2. Each Party shall adopt or maintain procedures for the issuance of advance rulings, including a detailed description of the information reasonably required to process an application for a ruling.

4. If an application for an advance ruling involves an issue that is the subject of:

- (a) a verification of origin;
- (b) a review by, or appeal to, a customs authority; or
- (c) a judicial or quasi-judicial review in the customs authority's territory;

the customs authority, in conformity with its legislation, may decline or postpone the issuance of the ruling.

5. Subject to paragraph 7, each Party shall apply an advance ruling to importations into its territory of the product for which the ruling was requested on the date of its issuance or at a later date if specified in the ruling.

6. Each Party shall provide, to any person requesting an advance ruling, the same treatment as it provided to any other person to whom it issued an advance ruling, provided that the facts and circumstances are identical in all material respects.

7. The Party issuing an advance ruling may modify or revoke an advance ruling:

- (a) if the ruling is based on an error of fact;
- (b) if there is a change in the material facts or circumstances on which the ruling is based;
- (c) to conform with an amendment of Chapter 2 (National Treatment and Market Access) or this Chapter; or
- (d) to conform with a judicial decision or a change in that Party's law.

8. Each Party shall provide that a modification or revocation of an advance ruling is effective on the date on which the modification or revocation is issued, or on a later date if specified in the ruling, and shall not be applied to importations of a product that have occurred prior to that date, unless the person to whom the advance ruling was issued has not acted in accordance with its terms and conditions.

9. Notwithstanding paragraph 8, the Party issuing the advance ruling may, in conformity with its law, postpone the effective date of a modification or revocation for no more than six months.

10. Subject to paragraph 7, each Party shall provide that an advance ruling remains in effect and is honoured.

notification to the other Party about the intention to terminate its effect.

Origin Procedures

5. In accordance with Article 3.16 (Obligations Regarding Exportations), each Party shall require that, if an exporter uses a material from a non-Party specified in paragraph 2 in the production of a product in the territory of that Party, the exporter shall, at the request of the customs authority of the Party of export, submit the origin declaration, or a copy thereof, and copies of documents on the origin of materials used in the manufacture of finished products, the submission of which is provided for by the relevant international free trade agreement concluded by the Party.

6. If an exporter fails to provide the documents relating to the origin of the materials from a non-Party specified in paragraph 2, or the information is incomplete, the material shall be considered as non-originating for the purposes of determining whether the product is an originating product.
