Article 124: Management of Natural Disasters

Cooperation in the area of management of natural disasters shall include, among others, activities for:

- (a) monitoring, including methodology, vulnerability and risk indicators, early-warning, prevention, mitigation, response and rehabilitation and reconstruction capabilities of natural disasters;
- (b) responding to natural disasters and emergencies;
- (c) disseminating best practices, exchanging experiences and conducting training in the management of natural disasters; and
- (d) improving disaster risk reduction in all domestic policies, including post-disaster rehabilitation and reconstruction.

Article 125: Private Dispute Resolution¹⁷

The Parties recognize the importance of private dispute resolution as valuable mechanisms that enhance and promote predictability and certainty in trade relations among private parties. With this view and to the extent possible, cooperation shall include, among others, activities to:

- (a) encourage the use of private dispute resolution means, such as arbitration, for the settlement of international commercial disputes between private parties arising in the free trade area;
- (b) promote the subscription of cooperation agreements between institutions dedicated to the analysis of private dispute resolution mechanisms or the administration of these procedures; and
- (c) strengthen capacity building for the management of private cases of dispute settlement, including exchange of better practices, training, internships, consultancies, technical cooperation projects, among others.

Article 126: Competition

Cooperation in competition shall include, among others, activities to:

- (a) promote the implementation of enforcement mechanisms, including the notification, consultation and exchange of information between the authorities in charge of competition. In particular, to prevent or proscribe anticompetitive practices or economic concentration that discourages competition;

¹⁷ For greater certainty “private dispute resolution” shall be understood for Costa Rica as “alternative dispute resolution”, which is defined as “processes and mechanisms such as negotiation, mediation, conciliation, arbitration and others of the same nature between private parties”.

- (b) promote capacity building in the field of competition; and
- (c) promote the exchange of experiences, technical assistance and training of human resources, in order to strengthen and effectively enforce the competition laws in areas such as antitrust, merger and subsidies, competition advocacy, intellectual property, market access, jurisprudence, among others.

Article 127: Other Areas

The Parties may agree to cooperate in other areas of mutual interest other than the ones set out in this Agreement. Such areas may include, among others, education, health, traditional medicine and infrastructure. Cooperation in these areas shall be carried out through the relevant authorities of each Party and upon agreement.

Article 128: Mechanisms of Cooperation

1. In order to administrate this Chapter and to facilitate the management of cooperation activities, the Parties hereby establish a Committee on Cooperation (hereinafter, “the Committee”).
2. The Committee shall comprise representatives of the Ministry of Foreign Trade of Costa Rica (Ministerio de Comercio Exterior), the Ministry of National Planning and Economic Policy of Costa Rica (Ministerio de Planificación Nacional y Política Económica); and representatives of the Ministry of Commerce and relevant authorities of the People’s Republic of China; or their successors.
3. This Committee shall meet at least once every 3 years, unless otherwise agreed by the Parties. When special circumstances arise, the Committee shall meet at any time upon request of either Party or the Commission.
4. This Committee shall have the following functions:
 - (a) oversee the implementation of this Chapter;
 - (b) encourage the Parties to undertake cooperation activities under the cooperation framework established in this Chapter;
 - (c) make recommendations on the cooperation modalities and activities under this Chapter, in accordance with the strategic priorities of the Parties; and
 - (d) review the operation of this Chapter and the application and fulfilment of its objectives between the relevant authorities, including but not limited to the relevant government agencies, research institutes, and universities in order to foster closer cooperation in thematic areas; the review may be carried out through periodic reports from the Parties.

5. In order to implement cooperation activities, and in accordance with each Party's capabilities, the Committee may suggest to conduct cooperation through the following means:

- (a) technical assistance, exchange of experiences between experts, scientists, researchers, among others;
- (b) exchange of information, contact points and good practices in areas of mutual interest;
- (c) mutual access to academic, industrial and business networks;
- (d) implementation and identification of joint research projects with universities and research centres;
- (e) promotion of associations and companies of public and/or private sectors, for supporting the development of innovative products and services;
- (f) technology transfer in the areas of mutual interest;
- (g) design of models of technologic innovation based on public and/or private cooperation; and
- (h) seek resources to conduct the implementation of the objectives set out in this Chapter.
